Lush life

As yachts head for warm waters and tropical ports this month, Mieke ten Have takes a walk on the wild side with these verdant interior motifs

< BY GEORGE!
George Venson's company Voutsa makes playful, provocative wallpaper, fabric and accessories. This season it launches a collection called Tahitia featuring giant, painterly palm fronds. PDA, voutsa.com

Like father, like sons

Harrison and Nicholas Condos, whose father Jim founded Tecno Furniture, known for its stainless steel, floating glass and minimalist approach to design, have extended his legacy to a line of modern and durable outdoor furniture. Harbour Outdoor's latest collection contains items that Bauhaus might have designed for yacht decks and al fresco living spaces. The Condos brothers derived inspiration from sources as disparate as Hollywood and Australian beaches. Chaise lounges, outdoor sofas, dining tables and umbrellas employ a range of durable teak finishes and Sunbrella canvas fabric. Brass accents feature on many of the designs, adding warmth and richness to otherwise elemental and sleek forms.

^ A NEW LEAF
In her line of homewares, Arjumand's World, Idarica Gazzoni often manipulates scale to reorient pattern, as seen here in two from a set of four banana leaf plates.

Hand painted in Italy, the whimsical camouflage-hued set shows cross sections of the tangled leaves. From $365, arjumandsworld.com

^ FLORAL TRIBUTE
House of Hackney's Limerence collection, in collaboration with Bergdorf Goodman, is inspired by the gardens of Sri Lanka. The exuberant pattern, on a sofa, chairs, a folding screen and pillows, can be ordered as wallpaper and fabric by the yard. Cushion, $220, sofa from $6,600, houseofhackney.com

> ISLES OF WONDER
Taken from a series of 19th century French prints depicting exotic lands for Western eyes, John Derian's Bresil, Amazones, Ile de Cuba, and Niger Afrique rectangular trays reproduce the original print and meld it with hand blown glass, creating decoupage pieces ideal as a coffee table centerpiece. From $80, johnderian.com

< COME ALIVE
Ardmore Ceramic Art, the South African artist collective, is loved by collectors for its imaginative, vivid and technically complex works inspired by the region's flora and fauna. Whether sold as sculpture, or as something more functional like tea cups and soup tureens, Ardmore's work is one of a kind. PDA, creelandgaw.com
